Korean Modiental Medicine Applicable for All Applications

The reason we recommend KMM to doctors in the aesthetic field is that a lot of our pain treatment is actually linked to the aesthetic field.

One of the ways we treat our pain is by using "Needle with Suture". It is a very effective tool that has never been dealt with in the Traditional Chinese Medicine and is used only in Korea, and many Korean doctors are now applying it to pain treatment in practice.

Another new treatment is the Herbal Extract, called "Pharmacopuncture," which is injected into Acupoint, Meridian, and pain area. In other words, you can think of it as a Mesotherapy for pain. These new applications are attracting enough attention to doctors and are continuing to promote them to doctors in many countries.

While we don't have solid data on the current state of your country's Traditional Chinese Medicine or the pain therapy market, this approach effectively cures pain with "No Surgery, No Chemical Drug" approach, which brings together the advantages of both traditional and modern methods, regardless of traditional and modern methods.

In addition to pain treatment, it is a new treatment that has unlimited potential for application in many areas such as beauty treatment and health improvement.

RSN (* Ryu's nerve & soft tissue acupuncture) : without Surgery The only integrated treatment of chronic pain

What is RSN * Ryu's nerve & soft tissue acupuncture

RSN may not appear to be much different from IMS(Intra-Muscular Stimulation) or Dry Needling, and it will appear almost identical in the way acupuncture is applied or the tools used.

However, while IMS analyzes disease from a Western medical point of view and uses tools similar to Aperture Needle or Dochim, RSN's acupuncture is a reinterpretation of Western medicine based on Oriental medicine, which makes an essential difference to IMS or Dry Needling.

RSN with formalized treatment

These treatments are complete for almost all musculoskeletal disorders, and if anyone learns and learns, they can treat almost all musculoskeletal disorders. In addition, we have various treatments for internal organs, including psychiatric, gynecological, ophthalmological, and geriatric diseases. On the other hand, IMS or Dry Needling is limited to musculoskeletal disorders, and as mentioned previously, there is a clear limitation that can only be effective if confirmed through other diagnostic devices or diagnostic methods.

Difference in treatment method Between RSN and IMS or Dry Needling

There are specific treatment points based on Aupoint of Chinese medicine for various diseases. For example, headaches are categorized according to the causes of headaches, and depending on the type of headaches, they are treated in a structured way with Jeonggyong-acupoint, Gyonghwegi-acupoint, and newly discovered treatments-acupoints. So if you learn how to diagnose and treat-acupoint and embedding for headaches, any doctor can have almost the same therapeutic effect. On the other hand, IMS or Dry Needling has some similar theories, but basically because there's no way to diagnose it, you're going to be able to sleep on certain areas that you expect, and if it fits well, you're going to be diagnosed, otherwise you're going to be able to treat other areas of therapy, and if it doesn't, you're going to be unable to treat them.
